7. Customer Consultations

During this grant year we employed two primary methods to consult with our customers. First we used an online customer satisfaction survey on our website which allowed our data users to comment with a low transactions cost. Secondly our frequent attendance at both state and local workforce investment board/staff meetings has given those customers opportunities to provide feedback on our products and services.

One primary result of our customer consultations was the redesign of our LMI website during the first half of calendar year 2009. During previous customer consultations we found that our website design was difficult and in some cases unwieldy to use. We believe the new website design has corrected many of those issues.

8. Recommendations for Improvements or Changes to the Deliverables.

We have no recommendations regarding changes or improvements to the existing deliverables.
